Balance is Better

In a nutshell, what we've learned is its better to play the long game. By focusing on helping athletes achieve their potential – not just in sport, but in life – we're much more likely to achieve the outcomes we want

It's all about balance.

Young people need balance. Rather than pressuring them to perform, they'll do better if we encourage them to play; to explore a range of sports, to develop a range of skills, creativity and decision-making. If they are to become high-performance athletes, they need time and encouragement to develop more than their physical ability; we must also support their social and emotional, cognitive and spiritual needs. At Sport NZ, we call this physical literacy*.

Talent development needs balance. Talent alone does not deliver sustainable success; when we're looking for future high performers we should be looking for talent and character. Critical to fulfilling their athlete potential will be their commitment, their willingness to learn and their mental toughness.

Athletes need balance. If we are to develop athletes who perform consistently as senior athletes, for longer, our development programmes have to be more holistic. They must recognise and cater for all four physical literacy quadrants; develop the person as well and the athlete.

*Some call this the '4 Corners' approach. To learn more, go to sportnz.org.nz/physicalliteracy.

JUDGES TRAINING KIT

a great resource for judges contains DVD's and a folder of judging sheets. Both Trainee and experienced judges will benefit and should contact their Chief Judge for more information.

Ethical Behaviour

These days, coaches have to deal with a range of ethical issues, including drugs in sport, abuse of power, harassment, sportsmanship, cheating, eating disorders, respect for officials and knowing when an athlete should return to sport after an injury. These types of issues have a serious impact on athletes.

Coaches often have enormous influence over athletes and their sense of self-esteem. If used recklessly, irresponsibly or illegally this influence could cause great harm. An athlete's experience and enjoyment of sport and life can be enhanced or destroyed by the coach-athlete relationships.

There are extra ethical considerations for coaches to consider when they are coaching children. It is essential that they develop skills in the following areas: dealing with parents, discipline issues, giving equal opportunities to all children despite ability levels, encouraging sportsmanship and having fun rather than over-emphasising serious competition.

Coaches must apply ethical principles to all aspects of their working life and in all aspects of sport.

Treating athletes and others in sport well will clearly bring its own rewards, but treating them badly creates all sorts of problems. At their most extreme these problems manifest themselves in damage to coaches' and athletes' health, performances and professional reputations.

Respecting the rights, dignity and worth of every human being helps coaches to avoid acts of discrimination of any kind.

Tips for Officials

Practical ideas to help you become a better official

Your Role and Responsibilities and Knowing what your job is and how to do it well.

Officials must be fair-minded and courageous and are critical to the health of organised sport. Officials ensure that games are played fairly and by the rules, within the spirit of the rules and in a safe manner. Officials then, in differing capacities, will complete some or all of the following tasks.

- Officiate at sports events, games or competition to maintain standards of play to ensure that game rules are observed.
- Judge performances in sporting competitions in order to award points, impose scoring penalties and determine results.
- Signal participants or other officials to make them aware of infractions or to otherwise regulate play or competition.
- Inspect sport equipment and/or examine participants to ensure compliance with event and safety regulations.
- Keep track of event times, including race times and elapsed time during game segments, starting and stopping play when necessary.
- Start races and competitions, resolve claims of rule infractions or complaints by participants and assess any necessary penalties, according to regulations.
- Verify scoring calculations before competition winners are announced.
- Direct participants to assigned areas such as starting blocks or penalty zones.
- Report to regulating organisations regarding sporting activities, complaints made and actions taken or needed such as fines or other disciplinary actions.

Finances of Major Contests

A decision to pay a subsidy of £20 next season to Centres conducting Nationals and Island Championship contests, providing all the usual conditions were observed, was made by the Dominion Executive at its August Meeting. Last season the subsidy was £25. The annual report of the Association gave details of the results of last season's contests, in the following terms over the signature of the National President, Mrs Norma Mangos –

'For the first time, these events were conducted under the revised financial arrangements which appeared to prove satisfactory. All organising Centres were paid the £25 subsidy by the Executive although in some cases there was not complete compliance with the conditions governing the conduct of National and Island Championships'.

The financial results were as follows –

NZ Senior Championships (West Coast SI Centre) profit £25/3/8

NZ Junior Championships (Auckland Centre) loss £2/12/4

North Island Senior Championships (Dominion Executive) loss £2/12/4

North Island Junior & Midget Championships (Waikato Centre) profit £11/4/3

South Island Senior Championships (Otago Centre) loss £2/17/7

South Island Junior & Midget Championships (Otago Centre) profit £39/9/8

'Owing to the reluctance on the part of Centres to apply for the North Island Senior Championships, this event had to be conducted by the Dominion Executive and for a similar reason, both South Island Senior and South Island Junior & Midget (jointly) Championships had to be conducted by the Otago Centre. This reluctance on the part of Centres to apply for these important events is a little difficult to understand, especially in view of the new favourable financial arrangements. In my view, the holding of a NZ or Island Championship is most beneficial to a Centre as it cannot but provide a wonderful stimulus to the sport as well as to the personnel of the Centre. I would like to see keen competition for these events and I am confident that every Centre is capable of organising them with great efficiency and enthusiasm'

I think sportsmanship is knowing that it is a game, that we are only as good as our opponents, and whether you win or lose, to always give 100%. Sue Wicks

Tania Hill Marching Southland

After two years on Southland Association Committee, Tania has taken on the role of Promotion and Publicity. Tania was Souvenir Convener for the NZ Championships and the South Island Championships as well as organising much of the publicity for both events. Tania has also taken on the role of Chief Recorder – a pressure task that is often not appreciated because it is 'behind the scenes'. Tania, along with Amanda Martin and Renee Morgan, has been instrumental in getting the 'Marching in Schools' up and running in Invercargill. With three schools involved this season, Tania hopes that more schools will participate next season, perhaps extending to other towns in Southland also. Thank you so much Tania, for all that you do for marching in Southland.
