THANK YOU to all our Volunteers

Richard Potter (Marching Southland)

Richard is our Chief Marshall, usually our only Marshall, at our competitions. He also willingly fills the role of Santa at our Christmas competition, making him very popular with our younger marchers – or maybe it is the candy canes he is sharing with everyone. Richard keeps the competition running smoothly, putting the teams at ease and working in well with our Chief Judge Gaylene. “Thank you” Richard for all you do for Marching Southland.

VOLUNTEERS – the importance of Leadership

Research has identified that leadership has a central place in the management of volunteers, especially at a community level. It is important for organisations to identify their leadership style that will best take account of volunteer needs and provide support for leaders to develop these competencies.

Volunteers see strong leadership within an organisation as the way for them to focus on their roles. Good leadership results in some or all the following -

- ✓ provision of a safe environment
- ✓ a well-run organisation
- ✓ manageable volunteer roles
- ✓ a supportive and encouraging environment
- ✓ clarity and certainty about the commitment required from volunteers
- ✓ volunteers feeling respected and listened to
- ✓ clear processes and systems for managing volunteers

Without good leadership volunteers may be uninspired and unsure about what is expected of them and may eventually lack commitment, which will see them discontinue their volunteering. Sport and recreation organisations must create a motivating environment for volunteers so that volunteers can achieve their own goals, as well as those of the organisation.

To keep moving forward you must look back....

Many of you will have finished for the year and will be starting to consider the new season ahead, or you may be getting stuck into the new season already. Before moving too far forward take some time to look back – not to the last event which was possibly the NZ Championships in Christchurch, but back further to the start of last season. Often, we review our season by how well we have done, this result will make us feel, happy, satisfied or even disappointed. However, beyond the emotion there is an opportunity to turn these experiences into learning that can make us better than before. So, cast your mind back to the beginning of the last season – who you were then, what were your hopes and goals for the season, what were your capabilities – and then think about how you moved forward through the year. What did you learn about yourself, how well did you balance your commitments through the season, what helped you perform well in training and in competition. What did you learn about your best warm up or cool down processes, your nutrition, mental preparation strategies. So how are you better and wiser than you were this time last year? Now from this picture of growth, start to think about who you would like to be by the end of this new season. How will you be wiser and a better coach/judge by the end of this season and what are you willing to do to get there, and how will you incorporate this into the year ahead? Having this kind of review as part of the planning process helps to recognise what is possible in a year.

ASSOCIATION NOTES .....

Planning in Sport

If you fail to identify and analyse the obstacles, you don't have a strategy. Instead you have a stretch goal or a budget or a list of things you wish would happen.

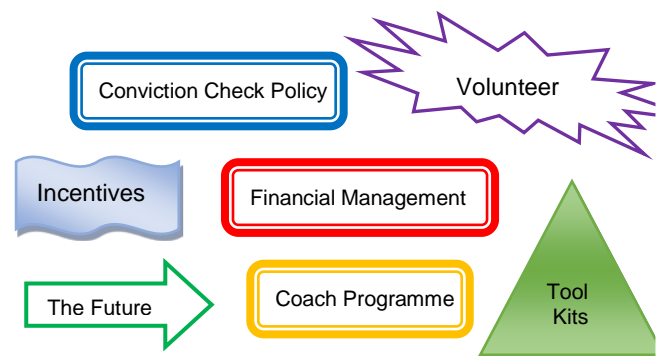

Planning processes and outcomes have improved significantly in recent years, but there is still

- a tendency to jump from Mission, Vision and Values straight into Outcomes, Initiatives and Monitoring; what is missed are coherent strategies that address the big problems and big opportunities.
- a lack of commitment to clarifying strategic priorities – effective strategy is not just about determining what the organisation will do, but is equally about determining what it will not do
- too much internal focus and therefore a lack of insight into the external environment, especially the competitive environment
- a lack of segmentation and prioritisation – whole-of sport plans that risk being unaffordable or otherwise unable to be implemented
- planning based on securing funding as a prime driver, rather than being based on the real requirements of advancing the sport and associated organisations
- a disconnect around plan priorities and an understanding of the resource and budget allocation needed to carry out the priorities.

Strategic planning is not a document preparation process, or a time-bound project; it should be a dynamic, ongoing process and discussion that at any one time is just at different stages of preparation and implementation. Ensure the Committee bring the key features of the plan into their everyday conversations, processes, actions and behaviours.

A full paying member is represented by way of an individual registration other than as an Associate Member, and the 50% discount is to apply to the type of membership paid in year one. ## NEW TEAMS – NEW TEAMS

Has your Association 'heard' about a new team in the area? Has someone 'seen' a face book comment about a new team forming? Yes, the signs are out there of new teams for the new season, BUT Association Secretaries and Committee Members must be alert to these opportunities that arise and MUST ensure all 'interest' is followed through. Every Association Committee will be being proactive planning strategies and initiatives to form new Teams and existing Clubs and Teams can assist by being proactive too. Where will the Under 12 Team get its new marchers? Where will the Senior Team get those two more marchers to march a full squad? Where will the Team find marchers ready and skilled in marching techniques, drills and jargon... from feeder teams – Introductory Grade marchers progressing to Under 12 and Under 16 marchers moving to the Senior squad. Every Team can help the Association form new Teams by forming a 'feeder Team' to provide the necessary 'feeding' of marchers upwards.
