WANTED for WOW Garment

A request from a lady in Australia....

My name is Anne Hortense and I live in Winmalee, NSW, Australia. Next year 2021, I am planning to enter a garment into the World of Wearable Art Show, (WOW) Wellington, NZ. My garment is based on a 'Marching Uniform' inspired by the tradition of marching held in NZ. It will be entered into the Aotearoa section. I have been looking here for a pair of boots to complete the outfit, however, most look more for streetwear compared to the marching boots the teams wear in NZ. I was wondering if you are able to advise me of a club or uniform committee that might be able to help me out. As I am using recycled material for the outfit I would be after a second-hand pair of white or even black boots (still in good order) in a size range of Shoes - 8.5 to 9.5 / Euro 39 - 41. (my outfit is based on a size 12)

If anyone can help email Anne at hortense7@hushmail.com

CORONAVIRUS - COVID-19

There are no specific controls or requirements in place around holding events in Alert Level 1, regardless of numbers involved, however the Ministry of Health continues to encourage individuals to uphold good hygiene practices and contact tracing. The code outlines best practice expectations to be applied to the events sector to enable good hygiene standards and facilitate contact tracing. View the updated code and guidance on Sport NZ website.

Large events such as sports games or tournaments are able to go ahead without gatherings controls. However, if outbreaks of COVID-19 occur again in New Zealand, limits on gatherings could be one of the first responses. Organisers should be aware they may be asked to postpone or cancel gatherings under the circumstance that an outbreak has occurred or if case numbers increase.

As we continue to strive to keep Aotearoa New Zealand at Level 1, please remember 10 golden rules:

- If you're sick, stay home. Don't go to work, school or socialise.
- If you have cold or flu-like symptoms, call your doctor or health line, and get advice about getting tested.
- 3. Self-isolate if you're told by officials to do so.
- 4. Wash your hands.
- 5. Sneeze or cough into your elbow and regularly clean shared surfaces.
- 6. Stay healthy, work with your GP if you have underlying health issues.
- 7. Keep track of where you've been.
- If you are a business or service, display a QR code.
- 9. Stay vigilant.
- Be kind to others and be kind to yourself

"Teamwork is the ability to work together toward a common vision."

"Unity is strength... when there is teamwork and collaboration, wonderful things can be achieved."

(Coach Educators and Workshop Presenters)

WOW, what an awesome Workshop and times 4. Workshops in Otago, Canterbury, Wellington and Waikato meant every Coach had easy access to a Workshop. Coaches thank you for taking the workshop to the regions and sincerely thank you both for your time and dedication to Coaching. Your energy, which is contagious, has motivated many of the Coaches back to practice to ensure that every marcher enjoys the experience as much as the Coach does. Coaches really did appreciate the tips and tricks you shared and look forward to another workshop and more tips and tricks.

Are we expecting young people to all develop at the se rate?

How many of the children and youth selected for representative teams at a young age go on to become professional sportspeople or excel in their chosen sport? As it turns out, not many. Early selection and specialisation in one sport can cause a very high turnover from youth level to senior level. Identifying young athletes early in the selection process also sends a powerful message to those not selected – the ones who were deselected. They wanted to play too, but the notion that they can't succeed unless they're in the top few, along with the limited opportunities this means for their social or development focussed path, means they often fall through the cracks.

Are there too many practices a week?

It is well known that when young people train too hard, too often there is an increase of burnout, injury and falling out of love with sport. If we push too hard, kids will push back. Dan Exeter is a Sports Exercise Physician, who has undertaken specialist training in sport and exercise medicine both in Auckland and Melbourne. Dan has seen many young people pushed unnecessarily leading them to drop out early. He talks to us about how kids can develop a good relationship with sport and carry this forward through their life.

DECIBEL READERS

Apps for iPads and Smart phones come in many forms and purposes. Something that could be handy is a Decibel Meter for checking the sound level of music. These apps will allow you to quickly and easily measure the sound levels with your iPad or Smart phone. There are many to choose from so take a look on your app store and Download for FREE. So how accurate are these iPad Smart phone sound measurements Apps? They would not be as accurate as a Decibel Instrument reader purchased to conduct regulatory tests of noise. They do however in studies give +/- 3dB which gives quite a quick and accurate reading to be able to make good choices around noise protection and personal exposure to noise in your environment. ALSO REMEMBER - volume is measured in Decibels. The pressure or forcefulness of sounds is measured in decibel (dB). More decibels mean a louder sound. But the scale of decibels is not linear. An increase of 10dB means a 10-times increase in the forcefulness of the sound for each change in dB reading.

Eileen served marching in Otago in many capacities for around 30 years spanning the 60 's – 80 's. She lives independently in Mosgiel and still maintains her interest in the sport through her daughter Margaret and Granddaughters Tracey and Vicki who march in Leisure teams. Well known for her ready senses of humour and mischief, she is as sharp as a tack as can be seen from the sparkle in her eyes. Marching Otago wish her many more happy years to come.

ASSOCIATION NOTES .....

A DIFFERENT PERSPECTIVE ...... ON WINNING AND LOSING

'Fair Play is when you and your team are playing and one person goes for the goal and they miss or something happens, the rest of the team don't go off at you, they support you'

No matter what sport they play, everybody likes to win. The pursuit of personal excellence is a commendable goal, but it cannot be measured solely by winning a trophy or finishing first. Too much emphasis on winning may have led to many of today's problems in sport. When winning is the only thing that matters, some people feel that it doesn't matter how you get to win, as long as you do. That leads to cheating, breaking the rules, use of performance enhancing drugs, violence and intense pressure on athletes.

The value of sport goes beyond whether

- A team or individual wins or loses
- Scores or doesn't
- · Defeats or is defeated

The coach must appreciate and teach the value of personal accomplishments and self-worth. That feeling of achievement comes in part from winning, but also from having tried hard, taken part, learned new skills and overcome obstacles. Many athletes become frustrated by the constant pressure to win and drop out because they feel inadequate or inferior.

'Competing for fun, being supported and enjoying that sport is 'Fair Play'

Many of the greatest athletes and teams win less than half of the time. The Los Angeles 'Lakers' basketball team won their World Title despite losing 25 games in a 75-game season. The best batters don't hit home runs every turn at bat and even Dan Carter didn't kick every goal in every game. When competition is kept in perspective, everyone can achieve excellence. It is a matter of attitude rather than where you are in the rankings. Success can be measured in many ways apart from the final score.
